TEMPERANCE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

President of W. C. T. U. of N. C.
Says It Should Be Taught.

SUPERINTENDENT SENSURED

Has Been Guilty of a Sin of Omission—Reduction of Insurance Rates.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

RALEIGH, N. C., October 3.—Miss Elizabeth March, of Winston, president, in her address before the State W. C. T. U. Convention now in session here, declared that it was a great disappointment that the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Teachers' Assembly at Greensboro last year completely ignored the question of teaching temperance in the public schools. They had committed a grievous sin of omission and deserved severe censure for it.

Revenue officers cut up a sixty-gallon blockade distillery near Harts Station, on the Raleigh and Seaboard Railroad last evening. Eleven fermenters and 1,000 gallons of beer were destroyed. Only three gallons of whiskey were found. This was seized.

Internal revenue collections for this, the fourth district, during the past month aggregated $135,497.

COMMISSIONER RETURNS.

Commissioner of Agriculture S. L. Patterson, who has been on a pleasure trip through Europe the past sixty days, conducted by Mrs. Mary Woody, Eulogies on members who died during the year were read as follows: Mrs. C. C. Correll, Greensboro; Mrs. Mary E. Cardland, Mrs. Lydia Hunt Gifford, College; Mrs. Notre Johnson, Mrs. Ida J. Pryor, of Hinch, by Mrs. Olivia Starr; Mrs. E. D. Huntley, Greensboro, by Mrs. W. H. Osborn.

The last North Carolina crop report for this season was issued today and says three-fifths of the cotton crop has been picked, that fewer reports of shedding are received, but that the crop will be very light and the general crop will be below the average. The report says a fair crop of tobacco of rather inferior quality has been cut and cured, early corn is being gathered and late corn is much in need of rain. A good crop of buckwheat is being harvested. Irish potatoes and peanuts are being dug, and fine crops of hay, fodder and corn. The hay have been saved. Some wheat and oats have been sown in the western districts.

INSURANCE RATES LOWER.

Insurance Commissioner J. R. Young makes official announcement of a considerable reduction just made by the insurance companies doing business in this State to apply to fire risks under the new fire waste law passed by the last legislature.

"On all mercantile buildings and hotels and the contents thereof, with metal, slate, tile or other approved fireproof roof, a reduction from the basis rate of ten cents or one dollar on the thousand dollars. On all churches, schools and public buildings and contents with the approved fireproof roofs a reduction from the basis rate of fifty cents on the thousand."

This reduction applies to sixty-seven cities and towns of the State. It is estimated that the saving in premiums by this reduction to the city of Raleigh alone will be $2,500.

The Secretary of State charters the Henderson-Snyder Company, of Monroe, capital $5,000, to do a general mercantile business.

TO MAKE WIFE DUTIFUL.

Rules Laid Down By Woman Being Sued for Divorce.

"If she is pretty, tell her so; if she is saucy, kiss her; if she is a good cook, commend her; if she is lonely, stay at home with her," says yesterday's New York Herald.

Under the heading, "Rules by Which a Husband May Make His Wife Dutiful," these epigrammatic directions were enclosed in a letter which Mrs. Horton Powers is alleged to have written to William M. Campbell, the co-respondent in the suit for divorce that William F. Powers, wealthy lithographer and member of the Crescent Athletic Club, has brought against Mrs. Powers, and which is now on trial before Judge Kelly and a jury in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Powers were married January 18, 1895, and have two children, Florence, six years old, and William, aged five. Mr. Powers lives in the Shore Road, Bay Ridge, and has a lithographing and printing establishment in City Hall Place, Manhattan. Mrs. Powers, since her separation from her husband, has been living with her mother in Jefferson Avenue, Brooklyn.

Letters, purporting to be from Mrs. Powers to Mr. Campbell, were produced by counsel for Mr. Powers, and after bitter opposition from Mrs. Powers' counsel had been overruled, were admitted as evidence.

These letters, full of ardent expressions and loving references to "Billy," alleged to mean Mr. Campbell, were read to the jury. It was explained by counsel that the letters, although the envelopes bore postage, had never been mailed, but had been found by a detective in Mr. Powers' employ, in Mrs. Powers' dresser.

Judge Kelly admitted the letters, however, on the ground that the handwriting had been proved to be that of Mrs. Powers. It was in one of these letters that Mrs. Powers is alleged to have enclosed the rules to make a wife dutiful. The case will be resumed at the opening of court this morning.

Mr. Atkinson Leaves.

Mr. Marshall Atkinson, son of Mrs. A. D. Atkinson, of the Hotel Richmond, who has been in charge of the hotel for the past year, has resigned to accept a position with a large electrical company in Chicago.

EVERY STALL HAS BEEN ENGAGED

Horse Show Association Finds It
Necessary to Provide More Stable Room.

HORSES TO ARRIVE SATURDAY

From Now On Scene of Great Activity Will Be Present at Amphitheatre.

Every stall in the Horse Show building has been engaged by exhibitors and the management of the exhibition yesterday took up the matter of providing additional stable facilities to accommodate the horses already entered in the various classes.

The remarkable increase in the number of entries, which makes this enlargement of the standing space necessary, is perhaps the most positive assurance yet given of the success of the fifth exhibition, which is expected to break all records. Last year the present arrangement was entirely satisfactory. Sixty box stalls and forty the stalls were used at that time. This year one hundred box stalls and sixty the stalls will be needed, showing an increase of over fifty per cent. in the number of horses. Moreover, the entries represented by the demand for stalls do not include those of the exhibitors making their own stable arrangements or the exhibitors of this city.

Secretary Hyde, of New York, yesterday advised the association that he had just returned the corrected proofs of the catalogue to the printers, and that the books would be shipped to Richmond the latter part of this week.

Many in Harness Classes.

One of the most notable features of the catalogue will be the showing made in it by the harness classes, which, always popular, are this year far more so than ever before. Among the entries in these classes are the horses of Mr. George Watson, of New York; Mr. William Carr, of New York; Mr. Charles E. Fowles & Co., of New York; Mr. Alfred B. Maclay, of New York; Mrs. Van Heusen, of New York; Mr. J. P. Carlisle, of New York; Mr. C. W. Watson, of Baltimore; Hale, Garber & Garber, of Harrisonburg, Va.; Joseph Welschfeld, of Baltimore; Henry Fairfax, of Aldie, Va.; David Dunlop, of Petersburg, Va.; John Kerr Branch, of Richmond; A. Randolph Howard, of Fredericksburg, Va., and others.

Among the entries of Mr. C. W. Watson in harness classes not already announced are those of his two horses, Virginia and West Virginia.

The three classes for four-in-hands, contain this year from three to five entries each, making this feature of the show much more attractive than at any previous exhibition. The entries of Mr. Charles E. Fowles, of New York, in these classes are of particular interest. Mr. Fowles is one of the most celebrated whips in the United States.

The horses will begin to arrive in Richmond next Saturday and the necessary repairs to the stalls are being rushed to completion. The association this year will not use tags as heretofore, but the stalls will indicate the names of the exhibitors. Among the early comers which are expected to be in Richmond Saturday are several of the New York horses, Mr. John Kerr Branch's Mignonette, a prize-winner of last year, and Miss Sharps, a brown mare; H. W. Spratley's chestnut mares, Geraldine and Polly, and Mrs. John Spratley's Tantalus. Mr. George Watson, of New York, has engaged nine box stalls to accommodate his stable. Among the widely known horses he will bring will be Conqueror, Confidence, The Squire, The Swell, and Peacock.

Large Sale of Tickets.

During the past few days the sale of tickets has been almost unprecedented. The demand comes from all sections, and this fact, together with the reports received at headquarters, leads to the belief that the attendance from outside the city will be much larger this year than ever before. A traveling man who reached Richmond after visiting a number of points in the State, said that the interest in the show was generally much more pronounced among the country people. The combination of foot-ball game and horse show will attract very large crowds to the city.

The number of special box parties this year will be larger than usual. Nearly all of the balcony boxes have been sold out on one-night engagements.

BOYS SAVED BY JUSTICE JOHN

Dismisses Lot of Small Fry
Who Blocked the Street.

DOES THE SPRINTING ACT

Golored Man Gives Policeman
Pointers in the Art of Running.

"What's the matter with the old people?" queried Justice John J. Crutchfield yesterday morning as he wheeled his large eighty-dollar chair around and looked over the book and saw a long list of names of small boys charged with being disorderly.

"Call these boys here to me, Sergeant," demanded the Justice, and he looked as though he wouldn't stand for any fooling about the matter.

Eight youngsters, none of whom was over twelve years old, came from the lot and faced the court.

There was a commotion on the other side, and a man, dressed in a suit of clothes that would brand him a grocery man, pushed his way through.

"Judge, I demand the warrant. They can't pay the fines and I would like to have the case dismissed," said the merchant in the manner of one telling a clerk what to do.

"How'd you get into this, anyway," asked the court.

"I told the officer to arrest them, because they were blocking the street in front of my place," answered the man who sells things.

"Is it against the law for boys to stand on the sidewalk or street?" innocently asked the Justice.

"Yes, sir, it is unlawful," replied the merchant.

"Well, will you be kind enough to explain to me what a boy can do in Richmond at this time? What is the matter with the men now? They didn't use to be so confounded mean," said the Justice as he winked one eye at the crowd of mischief-makers huddled together.

so weak he fell again the officer and couldn't catch himself.

"What made you weak?" the question came.

"Weak from runnin'," answered Edward.

"Why were you running?"

"Helping de 'leeseman run."

"Why helping him?"

"He was arter me to catch me for shooting crap."

"O. Ho." Edward you are dismissed.

"Thank you sar," and Edward made for the door.

"Wait a minute. You are dismissed of the charge of shooting crap. For resisting an officer I fine you twenty dollars and if you haven't got the price the jail will be your abode for sixty days," said the court and Edward accepted the jail.

Robert Williams got ten days for being drunk, and W. A. Jones, another old-timer, followed him to the bar.

"Thirty days," said the court.

"Make it ten like Bob's," said W. A. J., but his appeal was in vain.

Jack Munnin got ten days for being drunk.

Emma Jane Edwards was brought to court by Martha Johnson. Emma Jane "had went" into the restaurant where Martha works and ordered oysters. When the crackers and pickles were not forthcoming Emma Jane started her vocal machinery. She talked about Martha Johnson just as though Martha had been a stepchild. And Martha also said a few things and when both had finished talking the Justice ordered them to pay a fine of $2.50. Each coughed up.

"That's about all was done in the court yesterday morning. Side remarks were made to the delectation of the audience, but these come often."

DR. WILLINGHAM IS PLEASED WITH WEST

Foreign Mission Secretary Returns From Extensive Trip.

Seminary Reopening.

The Rev. Dr. Robert J. Willingham, secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board, returned to the city yesterday after a trip through Oklahoma and Indian Territory. Dr. Willingham is enthusiastic over the conditions he discovered in the far West. Oklahoma City he described as a town of great and growing possibilities, the trade center and distributing point for the entire section surrounding it. The people in this territory, with great crops, fat cattle and abundant oil wells, seem to be reveling in prosperity.

On Monday, Dr. Willingham was present at the opening of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, where he delivered the address. In the presence of the Rev. Dr. E. Y. Mullins, who is in Boston, Dr. J. R. Sampson, professor of Old Testament Interpretation, is acting as president of the seminary. The attendance at the opening was unusually large and the prospect for a fine year is very bright. A number of Virginia students have been enrolled.

One of the features of the seminary opening this year, was the opening in connection with it of a training school for women. A large number of young women were on hand. In this school they will be trained for missionary work of all kinds, both here and abroad.

LAY CORNER STONE OF UNITARIAN CHAPEL

Interesting Public Exercises at Floyd Avenue and Beech
Streets To-day.

The corner stone of the chapel of the First Unitarian Church will be laid at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the handsome lot at Floyd Avenue and Beech Streets. The exercises will be interesting and appropriate, consisting of addresses by Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, of Washington, D. C., by Rev. John L. Robinson, pastor and by Mr. Archer G. Jones, president of the congregation. Following is the programme in detail:

Address by the pastor and scripture reading.

Hymn—"Awake my Soul Stretch Every Nerve And Press with Vigor on."

Address by Mr. Archer G. Jones.

Placing stone in position and naming the contents of the copper box to be placed in the stone—Pastor.

Address and prayer of consideration by Rev. U. G. B. Pierce.

Hymn—"Almighty Builder, bless, we pray, the corner stone that here we lay."

Benediction by the pastor.

The public is cordially invited to these exercises.

The pastor, Rev. Mr. Robinson, has been in Richmond but a comparatively short while, but has accomplished a great deal, particularly in bringing the members of this denomination together, unifying their efforts and increasing their number.
